B. ASSESSMENT

OPERATIONAL BACKGROUND. Subject BLODGEN was originally apprehended by [REDACTED] Police on multiple counts of homicide prior to formal charging. Court records were never filed. Within seventy-two hours of arrest, the subject was extracted by personnel operating under forged federal authority and disappeared from the public record. Every officer present at the original arrest is now deceased - vehicle accidents, suicides, and one unsolved arson - within an eighteen-month window. No booking photo, no fingerprint card and no court file survives.

PROJECT GLASSEYE. Recovered documents from the raided facility designate BLODGEN as the eleventh and final live subject of an off-books Australian military program internally referred to as PROJECT GLASSEYE. The program's stated objective was the construction of an "ideal asset" - a wholly compartmentalized human weapon, untraceable to any intelligence service, deployable for liquidation operations the state could deny ever sanctioning. GLASSEYE was funded through concealed appropriations and ran outside the knowledge of cabinet, parliament and the Inspector-General of Intelligence and Security. Even lower echelons of the Australian Defence apparatus were unaware of its existence. Of the ten prior subjects, all are confirmed deceased during the conditioning phase.

CONDITIONING PROTOCOL. Subject endured an estimated four to six years of continuous psychological restructuring: sensory deprivation, forced dissociation, pharmacological dismantling of memory, and surgical removal of identifying features. The intent was to overwrite the original personality entirely. The result was something the program had not planned for - instead of one engineered identity, the subject fractured into a constellation of distinct personalities, each surfacing without warning. Project psychiatrists logged this as a catastrophic failure. The decision to terminate the asset was made shortly before the breach.

THE BREACH. On [REDACTED], BLODGEN escaped GLASSEYE Site B during a scheduled neurochemical reconditioning. Casualty count among facility staff: seventeen confirmed dead, four missing. Surviving footage shows the subject leaving the facility on foot, wearing a featureless mannequin display mask taken from a storage locker - the same mask seen in every confirmed sighting since. The mask is believed to function as a stabilizing object: a deliberate erasure of the face the program tried and failed to give him.

ACQUISITION OF SUBJECT FILE. NECROSOCIETY operatives breached GLASSEYE Site A on [REDACTED] in coordination with sympathetic former program staff. Recovered material includes the only complete dossier on the subject in existence - surgical records, conditioning logs, partial audio of personality interviews, and a sealed envelope marked TRUE IDENTITY - EYES OF DIRECTOR ONLY. Every individual listed in the original program chain of command is now dead. The subject himself is not believed to remember who he was before intake.

VICTIMOLOGY. All confirmed and suspected victims are female, with no apparent connecting demographic beyond a physical "type" - long dark hair, fair complexion, slight build. Investigators have not been able to determine whether this preference predates conditioning or was installed during it. Method of attack varies wildly between incidents, consistent with the personality-switching pattern. Crime scenes are uniformly staged and photographed.

CRYPTIC CORRESPONDENCE. Subject mails handwritten letters to local newspapers and metropolitan police following each killing. Letters are signed with a hand-drawn featureless oval. Bodies of letters contain ciphered passages - substitution, transposition, and at least two original glyph systems - interspersed with unciphered taunts. Three ciphers have been partially decoded. The remainder are unbroken. Linguistic analysts note the writing voice changes between letters and sometimes within a single letter, mirroring the dissociative pattern.

INVESTIGATION STATUS. Officially, BLODGEN does not exist. State police opened an investigation into the killings under a separate task-force designation - TASKFORCE HOLLOWPOINT - with the Australian Security Intelligence Organisation (ASIO) attached, and without knowledge of the GLASSEYE program. Other state and federal agencies remain in the dark. The military intelligence cell that ran the program had deliberately compartmentalized the subject's identity to ensure that no other arm of government could ever connect the killer to a sanctioned project. With the program's principals dead and the facility burned, NECROSOCIETY now possesses the only intact record.

NECROSOCIETY ALIGNMENT. Subject made contact with NECROSOCIETY independently at an undetermined point following the breach. Circumstances of first contact remain off-record. The organization regards BLODGEN as a unique strategic asset - an operative the state cannot acknowledge, hunt openly, or claim - and as a permanent psychological hazard requiring constant supervision.

CURRENT THREAT STATUS. Active. Whereabouts rotated weekly. Subject is to be approached only by Tier-1 cell members and only when the host persona is confirmed fronting. Do not attempt verbal de-escalation - language triggers are unpredictable and may surface PERSONA-Ø. DO NOT REMOVE THE MASK UNDER ANY CIRCUMSTANCES.

Passages. Ten ciphered passages in seven letters: two substitution, three transposition, and five in two systems of glyphs (A and B) that match no known script. Three passages are partly decoded:

L1 substitution "...I WAS GIVEN A NUMBER NOT A NAME..."

L4 substitution "...ELEVEN OF ELEVEN..."

L6 transposition "...THE FACE IS IN THE LOCKER..."

Writer. Every letter is signed with a hand-drawn featureless oval. Each followed the death of a woman: five deaths are linked to the letters, two are suspected. Linguistic analysis: the writing voice changes between letters and, in letters 4 and 7, within a single letter. The handwriting changes at the same points. The taskforce assesses one writer.

Release. One line of glyphs from letter 5 was released to the public on 12/12/2023. Nothing else has been released.
