B. ASSESSMENT

PROGRAM BACKGROUND. Recovered material identifies Subject SCORN as the fourteenth and final test subject of a black continuation program operated out of a sealed underground facility in ██████ Oblast. The program was designated internally only as ТЕМА «БЕССОМНИЦА» (THEME "INSOMNIA"). Documentation indicates it functioned as a continuation of mid-century stimulant-gas deprivation research previously assessed in open literature as fabrication. The facility remained operational after the dissolution of its parent agency; funding records terminate years before activity logs do. Staffing was maintained by personnel who were never formally reassigned.

THE EXPERIMENT. Subjects were confined to a pressurized chamber and exposed to an airborne stimulant compound intended to suppress the physiological requirement for sleep indefinitely. The program's stated objective was the production of a combatant resistant to fatigue. Subject 14 was held in continuous induced wakefulness for a period recorded as exceeding survivable limits for the human nervous system. Sleep was not restricted but rendered chemically unattainable. Chamber illumination was maintained at a constant level for the full duration of confinement.

PSYCHOLOGICAL DETERIORATION. Beyond the second week of total deprivation, examiner logs document the onset of acute schizophrenia: auditory hallucination, fixed paranoid delusion, and progressive loss of distinction between the subject and the deprivation-induced internal voices. The subject was observed conducting sustained verbal exchanges with absent parties. Staff recorded that the subject ceased to register pain and fear as deterrents. The conditioning produced no stable engineered personality; the original identity fragmented and did not reintegrate.

THE BREACH. On [REDACTED], Subject 14 exited the facility. Internal accounts conflict as to method: one log cites a containment failure, another cites unmanned access points following staff attrition. Consistent across all recovered documents: the chamber was found open, observation staff were dead or absent, and the subject departed on foot in sub-freezing conditions wearing only intake clothing. No alert was issued through official channels. The program was unacknowledged, and the escape was therefore never formally recorded.

THE VILLAGE. The subject subsequently surfaced in a settlement of fewer than two hundred residents, located at substantial distance from any urban center. He did not identify himself and produced no intelligible speech. He occupied the periphery of the settlement, outbuildings and a disused structure adjacent to the treeline, and was observed during overnight hours, stationary and apparently sleepless. Residents reported a gaunt male exhibiting continuous self-directed speech, unresponsive to contact and unwilling to vacate the area. Residents filed a report with regional authorities.

THE KILLING SPREE. The arrival of responding officers initiated the incident. The subject's conditioning had established a fixed association between authority figures and the experimental facility; the recovery attempt was interpreted as a return to confinement. The subject's response was immediate and total. The resulting spree, spanning the settlement and the responding units, was sustained and methodical in execution and absent of any chartable motive: no victim profile, no escalation sequence, and no signature beyond resistance to detention. By the arrival of reinforcing units the subject had withdrawn and the casualty count remained under assessment.

VICTIMOLOGY. Victims share no demographic linkage. The sole consistent factor is proximity to the recovery effort: individuals who moved to detain, restrain, or contain the subject were targeted irrespective of role. Multiple survivors who remained passive or withdrew were left unharmed. Method varies between scenes, consistent with a subject responding to perceived threat rather than executing a plan.

NECROSOCIETY ALIGNMENT. NECROSOCIETY identified the subject through the absence of official attribution surrounding the spree, an event the state declined to name and could not assign to a program it denied operating. Operatives located and extracted the subject during the active manhunt, ahead of federal recovery. The organization assesses Subject 14 as a high-value asset: an individual with no legal identity, originating from a denied program, who exhibits resistance to fatigue, immunity to negotiated surrender, and no record the state can claim. The subject operates under the designation SCORN. Handlers report sustained alignment contingent on the absence of any attempt to confine, restrain, or subject him to clinical treatment.

CONTAINMENT PROTOCOL. Do not display restraints. Do not present as authority, law enforcement, or medical personnel; all three are interpreted as recovery attempts and will be met with lethal force. Do not direct the subject into enclosed spaces. The subject does not sleep; surveillance models assuming a rest cycle have failed in every recorded instance. On suspected de-alignment, withdraw. Do not attempt to corner.

CURRENT THREAT STATUS. Active and uncontained. Subject is the sole confirmed survivor of fourteen.

Title: (U) NECROSOCIETY; SCORN - RUSSIAN PROGRAM DOCUMENTS OBTAINED FROM A PARTNER SERVICE

Date: 02/09/2026

From: CHICAGO
JTTF
Contact: SA [REDACTED]

Approved By: SSA [REDACTED]

Drafted By: [REDACTED]

Case ID #: 315N-CG-3466021 (U) NECROSOCIETY; INTERNATIONAL TERRORISM

Synopsis: (S//NF) Summarizes copies of facility documents and Russian police material provided by a partner service on 01/27/2026.

Details:

(S//NF) The partner service obtained copies of documents from a sealed underground site at a decommissioned military research facility in the Russian Federation. The oblast is blacked out on every page the partner provided. The documents concern a program designated ТЕМА «БЕССОМНИЦА» (THEME "INSOMNIA"). Fourteen subjects are listed. SCORN is assessed to be subject 14.

(S//NF) The last funding entry in the documents is dated 2011. The activity logs continue to late 2025. Staff lists show the same personnel throughout, none of them reassigned.

(S//NF) Two accounts of the subject's exit survive. One log records a containment failure. The other records that access points were left unmanned after staff stopped reporting for work. Both record the chamber found open and the observation staff dead or absent. No report was made to any Russian authority.

(S//NF) Russian police material covers a settlement of fewer than 200 residents, where a man matching the subject was reported in early December 2025 and where eight people died on the night of 12/11/2025 (see the translated duty report and investigative summary). The partner assesses that the man in the village and subject 14 are the same person.

(S//NF) Comment: the Russian government has not acknowledged the program or named the incident. Open literature describes 1940s deprivation experiments with a stimulant gas; those accounts have been judged fabricated. The documents describe their program as a continuation of that work.

(S//NF) Latent prints and a DNA profile from the village were provided with the material and have been searched (see CJIS results).

DISTRICT POLICE DUTY REPORT

translated from Russian by FBI Language Services - provided by partner service

РАПОРТ. Начальнику ОМВД России по [REDACTED] району. 09.12.2025

REPORT. To the head of the district police department of [REDACTED] district.

I report that on 09.12.2025 at 14:20 a telephone report was received from a resident of the settlement of [REDACTED] (population 187, 140 km from the district centre).

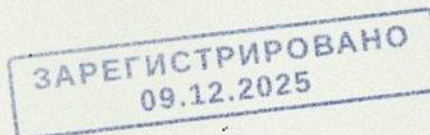

The caller states that for several nights an unknown man has been at the edge of the settlement, by the outbuildings and in the disused farm building next to the forest. He is thin, of slim build, about 180 cm tall, age not established. He wears light grey clothing, a shirt and trousers of thin cotton, not suitable for the season. The night temperature is minus 24.

The man stands without moving through the night. Residents have not seen him sleep. He talks to himself without stopping, in a low voice; what he says cannot be understood. He does not answer when spoken to and does not leave when told to. He has not entered any house and has not threatened anyone. Residents are afraid and are keeping their children inside.

Because of the condition of the road, a patrol cannot reach the settlement before 11.12.2025. The district officer [REDACTED] will attend with two officers to establish the identity of the man and remove him from the settlement.

Duty officer, police captain [REDACTED]

Re: (U) SCORN - psychological assessment (records only)
Requested by: Chicago, JTTF
Date: 02/17/2026

(S//NF) Sources. The facility documents and Russian police material summarized by Chicago on 02/09/2026. BAU has not observed or interviewed the subject. No history before the program exists.

(S//NF) Structured measures. PCL-R: not scored; there is no life history, no interview and no collateral source to score from. HCR-20 V3: summary risk rating HIGH; risk of serious physical harm HIGH; imminence HIGH where confinement, restraint or uniformed personnel are present.

(S//NF) Observations. The facility log records continuous wakefulness for at least 47 days. The longest documented human sleep deprivation is about 11 days. BAU cannot reconcile the log with that and does not accept the figure as established. Reporting since the village does, however, describe no rest cycle. Violence follows any attempt to hold him. People who did not try were not harmed.

(S//NF) Diagnostic impression (provisional, records only).

- F06.2 Psychotic disorder with delusions due to known physiological condition (prolonged sleep deprivation; exposure to an unidentified stimulant)
- F20.0 Paranoid schizophrenia, as recorded by facility staff; not confirmed
- R44.0 Auditory hallucinations
- F15.982 Other stimulant use, unspecified, with stimulant-induced sleep disorder

(S//NF) Risk. Extreme and unpredictable. No pattern beyond resistance to detention. No surrender can be negotiated. Do not approach in uniform or with restraints. Do not plan around his sleeping.
